

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 2015

www.dailymail.co.uk

60p

REDS IN THE BED!

Jeremy, Diane and a tryst behind the Iron Curtain

PAGES 6-7

IT'S TIME TO SELL UP YOUR HOME OAPs TOLD

Anger as financial watchdog tells elderly to downsize to tackle housing shortage

OLDER homeowners who 'sit quite happily in a very big house' should be given more encouragement to sell up and downsize, it was claimed yesterday.

Ministers should look at ways to

By Louise Eccles and Rosie Taylor

tackle the problem of retired people living in properties that are too big for them, says a major financial watchdog.

A senior official risked the wrath of millions of mortgage-free pensioners who remain in family homes when she said they may need to be steered towards moving to retirement housing.

Lynda Blackwell, head of mortgages at the Financial Conduct Authority, said Britain had a 'real issue with the last-time buyer'. But her comments

Turn to Page 4

Captain's girl: Camilla Kerslake yesterday

Camilla, queen of the Rugby World Cup WAGs

SEE PAGE THREE